

Equipping the AR workforce of tomorrow

24th June 2020

As part of the AREA's mission to help accelerate the adoption of Enterprise Augmented Reality (AR) by supporting the growth of a comprehensive ecosystem, we are further engaging with academic institutions to provide feedback on how they can help equip the graduates of tomorrow with the AR skills needed to positively contribute to the workforce.

The AREA, together with our academic partners, has created a very short survey to capture your perspectives on educational needs for future graduates.

We would gratefully appreciate you completing this survey – it should take no longer than 10 minutes to complete.

The survey is available HERE and runs until July 31st 2020. All contributors will receive a report summarising the findings. If you do have any questions, please contact michael@thearea.org.

Thank you for helping shape the educational future of our workforce.
